A Day in our Shoes

Follow Gwido and Patty through a typical day in the lives of two Ugandan children.
One Day in Uganda

Meet Patty and Gwido.

Patty lives in COTN’s Children’s Homes here in Uganda. She has a house mother, aunts, and many sisters and brothers who live with her.

Gwido lives just down the road from Patty, in a village called Anai-Oki. He’s in COTN’s Village Partnership Program. He lives with his grandma, aunt, sisters, and brother in a pair of small huts.

Patty and Gwido both have caring sponsors and staff members who help provide for their needs.

And, like every other child in Uganda, Patty and Gwido stay very busy. Let’s follow the timeline to see what they’re up to today!

Thank you for making Christmas merry!

Before Christmas, we asked you to help COTN’s children by purchasing pigs, shoes, food, and more from the COTN Gift Catalog and through our special #GivingTuesday online campaign.

And boy did you deliver! You gave enough to buy almost 400 pigs, 68 pairs of shoes, and food to feed 67 children for 4 months, among other things.

Emmanuel, one of our children in Uganda, says he appreciates the pigs because "we get meat that we can sell for different purposes."

Eunice, also in Uganda, likes the milk provided by the cows you donated through the Gift Catalog. "Especially for the sponsored children, it provides a balanced diet for them," she says.

Thank you for brightening the Christmas season for our children!
